From the Principal's Desk.....

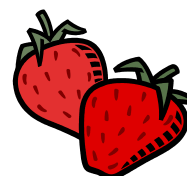

Today is Outdoor Classroom Day across Australia. Our students participated in several outdoor activities including building pinball machines in Technology and outdoor book reading and nature collection in Playgroup. Luckily the weather was cooperative and made it a brilliant day for learning outdoors.

This Saturday is Jacaranda Day at Goombungee. Haden SS valued being a part of our broader community and so this afternoon staff will be 'skirting' a tree fairy for Saturday's celebrations. If you have time see if you can locate Haden State School's tree. It is close to the purple bus stop! Thanks to staff members at Haden SS for their contributions to this community project. This year tree skirterers have been encouraged to add fairy lights to the display, so now the trees can be enjoyed in the evenings as well! It should be spectacular this year.

Today we had our second Transition Day for Prep students starting school at Haden SS in 2019. It is wonderful to meet with our new Prep students and to build relationships with the families. The third Transition Day will be held on 22 November.

Our next Haden SS Market Day will be held on Friday 16 November. Donations of home grown produce, plants or home made goodies and items are always welcome. Money raised goes to the Student Council and is used to facilitate our Kitchen/Garden Program. This is a program that actively teaches students gardening skills and kitchen skills. We aim to use produce from our gardens in our kitchen lessons. Recently we have been using our crop of strawberries to make jam (and scones!) Thank you for your support.

The next P&C meeting will be held on Friday 16 November. All are welcome. We do have some events to plan before the end of the year, including Haden SS at the Haden Block Party and the next Tuckshop Day. See you there.

With the weather changing to warmer almost summer weather, we do have a lot of school jackets being left at school. If you are at school for any reason, please take some time to check our growing collection and claim the jackets. Thanks.

Thanks to Seth Proud for saving the day today by calmly unlocking Mrs Philp's car when the keys were inadvertently locked in the boot before school. Thank you Seth! Job well done!
